

FREE GUIDE · 5 STEPS

I'm not real. Here's how I was made.

Create your own AI character and put it in a trending video. No camera, no face, no experience needed.

MR. NOBODY

@mrnobody.irl on TikTok

Same video. Same moves. Only the person changes.

THE TREND

● WITH MY CHARACTER

Original video by Miles on TikTok, remade with his permission.

1 image

of your character. Its ID card.

1 trend

a short video, with the creator's OK.

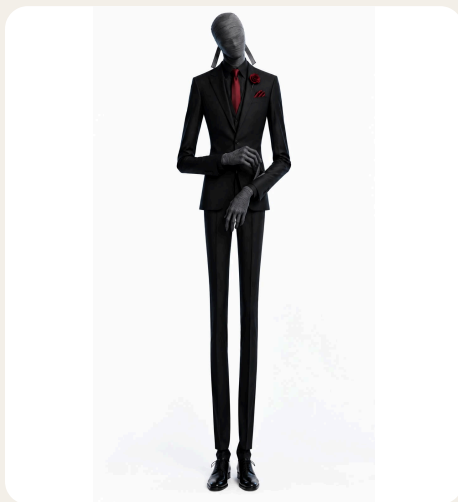

1 AI tool

that swaps the person for yours.

STEP 1

A character people recognise in one second.

- 1 One shape. A silhouette you could draw in three lines. Mine: very tall, very thin, black suit.
- 2 Two colours. Me: off-white and black. My evil twin, Mr. Somebody: charcoal and blood red.
- 3 One signature detail. The bandages. People say "the bandage guy" before they know my name.

Invent someone. Never use a real person's face, not even your own friend's.

STEP 2

Make one reference image.

This image is your character's ID card. Every video starts from it, so take your time.

Where: Higgsfield, tab Image, model Nano Banana Pro. Any good image AI works.

PROMPT TO COPY

Full-body photo of [your character: body shape, outfit, colours, signature detail], standing straight, facing the camera, arms relaxed, plain light grey background, soft studio light, realistic, sharp details, no text.

- 1 Head to shoes. The AI can only copy what it sees.
- 2 Nothing else in the picture. Our first Halloween image had a horse in it. We remade it on a plain background, or the AI would have copied the horse too.
- 3 Make 4, keep 1, forever. Use the same image every time so your character never changes.

STEP 3

Pick the right trend.

Not every video works. Look for these five things:

- ✓ 10 to 15 seconds. Short videos get watched to the end, and that's what TikTok pushes.
- ✓ One person (two at most), upper body clearly visible.
- ✓ Steady camera, good light. Fast cuts confuse the AI.
- ✓ A sound that's trending right now.
- ✓ Between 4 and 30 seconds: the tool's limit.

Ask the creator first

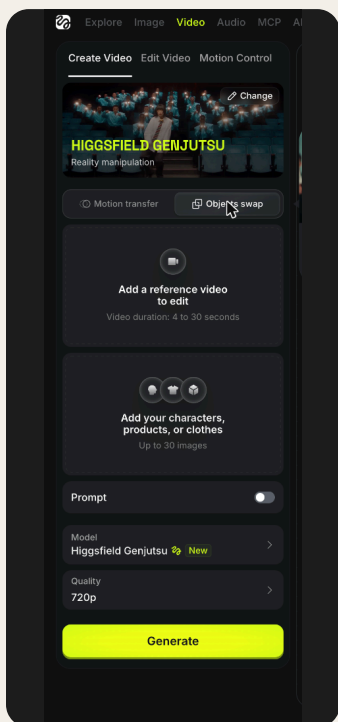

Send a message: "Love this! Can I remake it with my AI character? I'll tag you." The creator of our van video said yes, and offered us more of his videos.

Then save the video from TikTok if downloads are on, or ask the creator for the file.

STEP 4

Swap your character in.

1. Higgsfield, tab Genjutsu, then Objects swap.
2. Add the trend video, then your reference image.
3. Turn Prompt on and paste the prompt below.
4. 720p is enough to start. Check the credit price shown before you press Generate.

PROMPT TO COPY

Replace only [the person: "the man in the orange vest"] with the character from the reference image. Keep everything else exactly the same: same place, same camera, same light, same timing. The character does exactly the same moves at the same moment. [Describe your character's outfit in detail.] Nothing of the original person remains: no face, no hair, no skin, no [sunglasses, bracelet...]. Photorealistic. No text.

The AI keeps what you don't mention. Always list what must disappear.

STEP 5

Check it, add the sound, post it.

- 1 Watch it slowly, second by second. Look for leftovers: a real face, hair, a bracelet, the old clothes' colour. If you see one, run it again.
- 2 Add the song in TikTok. The new video comes out without sound. Tap Add sound, find the trend's song, line it up with the moves.
- 3 Turn on "AI-generated content" (More options). Every time. It's the rule, and it builds trust.
- 4 Short caption, 3 or 4 hashtags. Our 502K-view video had none at all. Tag the original creator.
- 5 Post when your followers are online. TikTok Studio, Analytics, Followers. For us, it's 7 pm.

Rules we never break

- Always label AI content.
- Ask the creator, and credit them.
- No real person's face. No famous characters in paid posts.
